Powai Fine Artist Displaying Work at Nehru Centre By Special Correspondent

A Hiranandani based fine artist, Shukla Chowdhary, is conducting an exhibition of paintings entitled "The Flight of the Phoenix" currently on view at Nehru Centre AC Gallery, Worli. Thirty six works of Shukla Chowdhary are on view from 18 to 24 April, between 11 a.m to 7 p.m.

Semi abstract in nature, her works embody the painter's definition of space as an environmental fantasy. Her ability to positively relate to the beauty of our surrounding effortlessly carries one beyond reality and into our dreams.

Her power play with colours melts into a wonderful spatial symphony and harmoniously blends flight of the imagination and the real. Her sense of balance, rhythm and harmony joyfully invites one to experience the sublimity of floating clouds or a pensive sunset.

The purity of landscape under a blazing sun and the contrasting mysterious woods in the night invites one to join in an eclectic celebration. We are special, or so life seems to say, as one departs from one experience and enters another new phase much in the same way as Phoenix, the mythological eternal birds, journey through life and rise from the ashes.

The early upbringing of the artist in the hallowed land of Tagore and her formal education at Visva Bharati, Santiniketan has left its indelible simplicity in the artist's work that embody the great bards' words "I did love this earth; yes I did love it..."
